

Social Media Code of Conduct

ETNZ (henceforth referred to as "we") are dedicated to maintaining an open, safe, and respectful social media environment for ourselves and our members. In order to ensure this welcoming environment, we request that all those who choose to interact with our social media pages and platforms do so in a courteous, respectful manner. We will maintain a space free from intimidation, bullying, harassment, stalking, threats, profanity & inappropriate language, discrimination, or any other behaviour that we deem dangerous or liable to cause offense or anxiety in another party. We reserve the right to remove comments & posts which violate this Code of Conduct. If the offending party violates this repeatedly (more than 3 times), we reserve the right to block the account from acting on our platforms. Determination of violations is at our sole discretions. If you ever feel our actions have been unfair to you, please contact us at info@etnz.org to discuss the issue.

Background on ETNZ:

ETNZ is a professional association of people involved in the technical aspects of the event and entertainment industry. We have a broad membership of people ranging from students and individual practitioners through to larger national and international companies.

Our goal is to support the New Zealand entertainment and event industry through professional development, advocacy, and safety. To this end we have developed and maintained a number of health and safety guides; have lodged a formal qualification onto the New Zealand Qualification Framework and, working with Skills Active Aotearoa, have developed unit standards to meet this qualification; as well as building relationships with like organisations from around the world.
